Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., I'll share a few for the first time. As a child I was introduced to the poetry of Langston Hughes and Paul Laurence Dunbar. To this day I am still a lover of poetry, however, I never knew that Dr. King wrote poetry. (Also, I like to say that the Howard University art department served as my high school high school library!) I had little more than a vague awareness that King (among other prominent people from the 60s and 70s) had published poems, some examples of which are: 1. A Song for Freedom (1960) We are really getting our world freedom this year!A song for freedom, freedom for allThe world has had enough of suffering and strifeSo we're getting our freedom in line.A song for freedom, freedom for allNo one can hold us again! 2. The Kindness of Strangers (c. 1954) May the world see us as people; May the world taste our country; May the world hear our song; May we all sing together, the deep harmony of freedom. 3. King Talks (c
