Q: Accordion toggle classes not working I have been trying to apply the "active" class to an element for some time, however, I can not find out what is wrong in my code. There is a piece of javascript, that should toggles the classes:

```
var $accordion =
    $('.accordion');
$('.accordion').click(function() { $('.accordion.container').toggleClass('active'); });

When the page loads, the expected result is that the.container is set as active. however, nothing happens when I click on the.container or.accordion. I have spent 2 days on this, and I simply cannot figure it out. :(A: The problem is that.container is a descendant, not a sibling (!) of the clicked.accordion, so this does not toggle the active class. Instead, I think that the jQuery.is() function will do what you want: `$('.accordion.container`

Q: Merge Multiple Data Frames Using Python I need to merge multiple csv files. My code works fine for a single file, but when I try to run the same code for multiple files, I get an error. I have tried importing pandas and adding the dataframes to a list, but that didn't solve the problem. import pandas as

pd df = pd.DataFrame() df1 =
pd.DataFrame() df2 = pd.DataFrame() df3 = pd.DataFrame() f1 = open('file1
