

A: Your $30 is $30 to you. If you change it to be $0, it will allow you to download the free version of your software without a subscription. Is this a real link or someone is annoying me? So, I'm having the same problem where I can't play the game. Every time I try to, it brings me to the game screen, then my screen blacks out. I have tried several different browsers and computers. I can't seem to use any other games, other than the old free ones. When I press the OK button, nothing happens, and the window doesn't come up, it stays black. Help? You're passing characters to your browser via embedded HTML tags (the actual ones you copy and paste from the post are 0, 1, etc.) These are the triggers for JavaScript. You should pick an easy number and then do mod 3 instead of doing a loop. Simply put, when you do this: 242 you get this: 2422 simply cut out the middle of it and your program won't break. You want to just do: 22 it's cleaner that way. When your program gets to the last one, it will cause an infinite loop because it's checking if the number mod 3 is 0, and if it is, then it loops back to the beginning and runs the first one over again. Simple example with a loop: 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 15 You can see where it gets stuck,
